

New Web Version 12.0.0

Release highlights

Redesigned hotel list layout

Thanks to the updated hotel list design, users can now employ the Automated Hotel List (CMS) to filter through the list of hotels. Furthermore, by applying filters based on destination and dates, both the grid and map views can be refined. Brands, services, location type, hotel stars & type filters for better hotel selection.

Extended maximum nights for service apartments

For service apartments, the current 45-night limit has been expanded to 90 wherever it is currently in effect, better accommodating users' needs.

Modal for pages not translated

When browsing with a language that does not have all pages translated (Example: Spanish), if the page to which the CTA redirects is not available in the current language, the user should see the modal.

This approach ensures that users can manage their language preference when facing incomplete translations, providing choices to either stay on the current page or switch to the English version, ensuring a more user-friendly interaction.

Most important bugs fixed

- Special characters can be used as part of the user's credentials on mobile web for iOS devices
- Display of every single interaction in my statements section, covering possible lacking information
- Accurate description of the transaction nature, covering all the different possibilities (bookers points, stay points, M&E...)
- Ability to use all kinds of special characters as part of the password in the member's accounts
- Update of the static feed in the different languages available on the website
- Correct exchange in the currencies of the cancellation policies
- Amount of taxes excluded from the total price pointing to the whole stay instead of daily
- Precise breadcrumbs on every single page of the website

*We're in the process of activating the new confirmation page, which includes several performance enhancements. It's worth noting that EY has successfully addressed the issues, though we're still conducting testing to ensure everything runs smoothly.
